Negotiations Continue for 1,113 Held In Cuba

Prisoners' Release Delayed

HAVANA (AP) — Negotiations hit a snag Wednesday night and the release of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners was delayed again. But Prime Minister Fidel Castro planned further talks with negotiator James B. Donovan, possibly later today or Friday.

The talks between Castro and the New York attorney were expected to end Wednesday night. But after the two met for four hours in the presidential palace, a spokesman for the Cuban prisoners' families committee said:

"Certain points have to be revised and this will take two or three further meetings."

There was nothing to indicate that the snag was caused by the claim of Cuban exiles that they raided the Cuban north coast port of Isabella de Sagua Monday and killed 20 persons.

There has been no confirmation of the raid nor any comment on the exiles' claim in Havana.

The committee's spokesman would not say what caused the hitch in negotiations but emphasized there would be further meetings, possibly today or Friday.

As the negotiations dragged on, informants in Havana said Pan American Airways has offered to fly the prisoners to Miami as soon as an agreement is reached.

The prisoners were captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion in April 1961. Castro originally asked $62 million in cash for the release of all those captured. Donovan reportedly has offered medicine and food in lieu of cash.

Relatives or friends have paid for the release of a few captives, and 60 sick or wounded prisoners were returned to Miami last April.

Informed sources in Washington say the U.S. government will pay for a shipment of about $13 million in medicine and food to Cuba if the prisoners are released.

Funds raised by friends and relatives of the captives in the United States and Latin American presumably will make up the remainder of the ransom demanded by Castro for their release.

Any U.S. payment to Castro is expected to kick up an uproar in Congress. Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., told the Senate they oppose any ransom payment.

Reports circulated in Washington that Donovan was acting for the administration in the negotiations as well as for the families committee. But Edwin Guthman, Justice Department information officer, denied a story in the New York World-Telegram and Sun that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy asked Donovan to take on the assignment last June, saying the White House had a moral obligation to obtain the release of Cubans captured in an invasion the United States allowed to go ahead.

Cranmer, Aldom Confer In Columbus With Road Officials

Although the Ohio Department of Highways has scheduled a public hearing here Oct. 19 on the proposal to construct a $1,300,000 grade separation on W. State St., the highways committees of the Salem Chamber of Commerce and the Salem Area Development Corporation went on record yesterday as favoring the study of an alternate, adjacent location.

The committees' motion, adopted at a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Chamber offices, recommended that the state "explore the possibility of the location immediately north of W. State St. or any other plan that is feasible and practical."

Discuss Business Fears

J. Raymond Stiver, president of the Chamber, presided at the meeting when committee members acknowledged and discussed the expressed fears of businesses along W. State St. that the overpass, as planned, would leave them without ingress or egress to their plants.

Approximately 300 persons are employed in the factories and businesses bordering on the planned construction site, it was pointed out by Robert Oswald, chairman of the Chamber's highway committee, and Gail Herron, chairman of the highways committee for SAIDC.

The group felt that if the overpass were constructed parallel to State St. and to the north, the existing businesses would not be hampered in any way, although the committees conceded that it would require the removal of residences and two service stations.

Reiterate City's Cost

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer, who with Councilman-at-Large James Aldom, spent yesterday in Columbus conferring with State Highway Department officials, reiterated today that the cost of the overpass to the City of Salem will be only five per cent of the $1,300,000 estimate—or $65,000.

Several opponents of the bridge improvement have claimed that the city's cost would be greater and that there were a lot of unanswered questions regarding the project.

Mayor Cranmer and Aldom were met at Columbus by State Highway Division 11 Engineer William B. McKenna and his assistant, Robert Jenkins. The group conferred with Guy Knepper, director of planning and programming for the Department of Highways, and Melvin Rackoff, the city's engineer on the grade separation job.

Cites Overpass Need

Knepper cited a "definite need" for the overpass, pointing out that a traffic survey conducted in 1960 showed 10,028 motor vehicles crossing the W. State St. grade crossing in a 24-hour period. He said the total today could even be higher.

Knepper told the mayor that the starting point of the span has never been changed and that it would extend from Sharp Ave. to Jennings Ave.

He declared that the city's expense of five per cent of the total contract will include the cost of relocating municipal utilities that might require moving, in fact all expenses incidental to the overall project, such as construction of auxiliary streets or service roads for homes and plants in the neighborhood.

$42,601 Paid To Engineer

Mayor Cranmer said this morning that the city has been charged $42,601.28 to date by Rackoff Associates for the cost of the project.

SALE OF EXISTING EDIFICE ANNOUNCED

Friends To Break Ground for Church

The First Friends Church is expected to break ground this month for its new edifice on Jennings Ave. north of 10th St., as the result of the sale of its present church property at 200 E. Pershing St. to George Emeny.

The Emeny estate already owns the adjacent mercantile buildings on South Broadway occupied by Sears-Roebuck and Strouss-Hirschberg as well as the municipal parking lot to the west.

The sale price of the church property was $65,000 which the church board of trustees will apply to its building fund totaling approximately $83,000. The church two years ago purchased the 6½-acre Jennings Ave. location for the new building for $25,000 and the site has been cleared in preparation for construction.

The present church was first occupied on July 25, 1845. The Sunday School annex was built 12 years ago.

Mr. Emeny said today he has absolutely no plans at all at the present time for the future use of the downtown church site. "Plans are completely indefinite," he added.

Several members of City Council have favored purchase of the old property, which is diagonally across Pershing St. from City Hall in order to obtain the church's Sunday School annex for overflow city offices but the proposition never reached the discussion stage in Council due to lack of immediate funds.

The new First Friends Church building will include a sanctuary to seat 650 persons and wings that will provide for ample church educational facilities, a chapel and fellowship hall.

Rev. Harold B. Winn is pastor of the church and Donald Rohrer is Sunday School superintendent.

Kennedy Signs Trade Measure

Historic Bill Links U.S. With Euromart

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signs into law today the historic trade expansion bill giving him vast power to reduce most tariffs, repeal others and forge economic links with the booming European Common Market.

Administration leaders hailed the bill as the crowning legislative achievement of Kennedy's first two years in the White House.

The new trade program received strong support from both parties and from leaders of business and organized labor.

Opposition from protectionist groups was not as harsh as had been predicted, since the measure provide help for industries and workers when imports cause loss of business and jobs.

The administration was unable to block a provision that would restrict trade with Poland and Yugoslavia. But otherwise, Congress gave Kennedy almost exactly what he requested, plus additional authority to counter unjustifiable import barriers erected by other countries against American products.

The special authority to work out economic arrangements with the Common Market is regarded by the administration as the heart of the bill.

The booming six-nation area is looked upon as a potential vast new market for sales of American consumer goods and farm surpluses.

The six nations in the market are West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Great Britain is negotiating to become a member.

The bill extends for five years, to June 30, 1967, the 28-year-old reciprocal trade agreements law initiated by Secretary of State Cordell Hull in Franklin D. Roosevelt's first term.

It gives the President authority in negotiating new trade pacts to cut all U.S. tariffs by 50 per cent.

In addition, he may negotiate for the complete elimination of duties on items for which the United States and the Common Market account for 80 per cent of world trade.

Ike Is Honored By Army Association

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army, which went through lean times while old soldier Dwight D. Eisenhower was President, showed him Wednesday night that all is forgiven.

And for his part, General of the Army Eisenhower responded that "my pride in belonging" to the Army "is something that will die with me."

Ruddy, vigorous and remarkably fresh after political barnstorming Eisenhower looked much younger than his nearly 72 years as he stood before about 2,000 bemedaled soldiers and their ladies to receive the Army Association's highest award.

The association, a private organization promoting Army causes, conferred on Eisenhower its George Catlett Marshall gold medal, named for the man who plucked him from obscurity and tapped him for the World War II command that made Eisenhower a hero.

The medal is given each year for "selfless and outstanding service to the United States." The citation lauded Eisenhower as "an elder statesman and symbol of American good will to the people of the world."

Seated with Eisenhower at the head table in the great, gilded hall of a midtown hotel were some of the generals, now retired, who were his comrades in World War I.

Thomas Works Vote Scheduled

Lisbon Firm Bids To End Long Strike

LISBON — Employees of the Thomas Works of the H. K. Porter Co. will vote today at 5 p.m. at St. George's Parish Hall on a new company proposal to end the 102-day-old strike.

D. M. Van Schock, plant manager, said the firm's offer includes a 4-cent hourly raise for each of the first two years of the contract, a 3-cent raise the third year, increase in sickness benefits from $30 to $45 weekly, granting of one additional paid holiday per year and other benefits.

This is the first vote of employees to be scheduled on a contract proposal. Heretofore offers were rejected by either union or company officials.

Approximately 140 employees have been on strike since July 1.

Several meetings had been held among union and management leaders and interested merchants in efforts to settle the dispute.

The Thomas Works manufactures electric insulators and is the largest industrial employer in the Lisbon area, with an estimated $800,000 yearly payroll.

Van Schock said if the union approves the firm's offer, some employees will be recalled Monday morning to begin getting the plant back into operation.

United School PTA Elects Mrs. Conser

Mrs. Celesta Conser was elected and installed as treasurer of the United Schools Parent-Teacher Association when the group held its first meeting of the season recently. Wilbur Wood presided.

Chester Brautigam, executive head of the school system, gave a short talk and presented the school principals who introduced faculty members and other school personnel. An announcement was made of the annual school fair Nov. 3.

Following the business meeting, an open house and inspection of the new annex was held.

The next executive meeting will be Nov. 8 in the elementary auditorium. The next regular meeting will be Nov. 12 at the school.

Friday Seen As Last Day For Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders struggled to bring the 87th Congress to a close today but conceded that Friday night was a more likely target for adjournment.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said he had not entirely abandoned hope for closing shop tonight but that the hope was a dim one.

House leaders confidently predicted final adjournment late Friday.

Little progress was made on Wednesday in disposing of the few key bills remaining and no action was scheduled for most of them today.

But nearly every important measure left in a position to be moved quickly to the White House if only a few bitter disputes could be settled.

Numerous behind-the-scenes conferences were called Wednesday, with White House prodding clearly in evidence, and the leaders said substantial progress was made on their thorniest problems.

One source, who asked not to be identified, said President Kennedy told Democratic leaders in no uncertain terms at a White House conference earlier in the week that he wants Congress out of Washington.

Kennedy was reported to have remarked acutely that while he was out campaigning for more Democrats in Congress, the Democrats there weren't helping matters by squabbling and giving the impression they couldn't even adjourn.

Kennedy himself removed one big stumbling block by his last-minute signature on the pension bill for the self-employed.

Ole Miss Pupils Face Charges

To Appear Before Student Judges

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — The powerful University of Mississippi student judicial council meets today to map procedures for a hearing for six students who face charges in connection with rioting last week when James H. Meredith entered the university.

Each student will have a private hearing before the council. Since it was established in 1951, only one decision has been reversed.

Possible penalties include expulsion, suspension for no less than one semester, suspension with suspended sentence, and probation. No names will be released unless a student is expelled.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said the six were not charged under the federal code.

A meeting of the 27-member faculty senate was expected to consider two resolutions on the demonstrations and college unity.

While the student and faculty groups prepare action, the 29-year-old Negro went through his eighth day of classes.

Opens Second Vatican Ecumenical Council

Pope John Appeals For Christian Unity

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today opened the second Vatican Ecumenical Council — Roman Catholicism's greatest assembly of prelates in history — with an appeal for Christian unity.

The 80-year-old pontiff, in an address before some 2,500 council delegates in St. Peter's Basilica, said progress had already been made toward unity. He spoke specifically of a unity of prayers and aspirations and a unity of esteem and respect.

"Unfortunately," the Pope said, "the entire Christian family has not yet fully attained unity in truth."

"The Catholic Church, therefore, considers it her duty to work actively so that there may be fulfilled the great mystery of that unity, which Jesus Christ invoked with fervent prayer from His Heavenly Father on the eve of His sacrifice."

Community Chest Agencies:

YWCA Here Is Beehive of Activity

Aim of the Young Women's Christian Association for the coming year is to be able to serve effectively all who need its services. In the past, it has been considered a meeting place for every kind of community activity and thus has served many thousands of people other than members. This organization is another agency that receives aid from the United Fund Appeal Drive, now in progress.

Operating with a one - woman staff, a part-time secretary and many dedicated volunteers, the local YWCA has in its few years of existence managed to serve hundreds of Salem people. From Sept. 1, 1961, to Aug. 31, 1962, more than 750 persons were enrolled in classes.

OTHER ACTIVITIES including educational and community meetings account for more than 3000 persons. A membership of approximately 1200 persons is maintained.

The class in citizenship gains the enthusiastic support of many foreign born residents of Salem. Mr. and Mrs. George Wyer, instructors in the class in citizenship, and Miss Barbara Early, instructor in Basic English, have proved to be unfailing sources of knowledge and inspiration to their students in their quest for American citizenship.

While the program has made good progress in trying to meet the needs of the community there is much more that should be done in order to fulfill the real purpose. The board of directors and members are extremely appreciative of the help that is received from the United Fund. During the present campaign the YWCA is assuming responsibility for house-to-house canvass in the entire northeast section of the city under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Brian.

Hope for the future is more paid staff. Desperately needed is a paid director of Y-Teen activities — a person trained in dealing with these young people, who can devote full time to this work. The organization is lacking a proper health program because no trained leadership is presently available on a volunteer basis. These are not all of the services provided by the YWCA. Perhaps of utmost importance to young mothers is the program for the housewife.

ONE YOUNG HOUSEWIFE expresses how much the program has meant to her. She states "I have changed so much in the past three years that I can scarcely remember the trapped housewife of four years ago — a wife so preoccupied with housekeeping and child care that my husband had lost his best girl and had instead a tired, shrewish wife. Then came the YWCA.

"I discovered its program for young wives. I became an individual again. I blossomed and grew. A day a week with young women with similar problems lifted my morale and made me feel like a new woman. We exchanged attitudes and feelings while making interesting things with our hands and out of this came change.

"Best of all, my two little ones were having the time of their lives in the Y nursery while I explored new ideas, new crafts and development of new abilities. My husband shared my enthusiasm as more interesting menus appeared on the table, as I began to look more like the girl he married (thanks to the physical fitness program) and as the conversation at dinner became more stimulating."

CLASSES IN THE ARTS and crafts are considered a means to an end. Offering opportunities for self-expression, development of community leadership and the living of richer, fuller lives have always been the aims of the YWCA.

Pressed To Raise Age Minimum of Purchasers

New York Urged To Change Liquor Law

EDITOR'S NOTE — Sale of liquor to 18-year-olds, permitted by New York State, has aroused neighboring states who are pressing New York to change its law. Here is a report on the problem.

By ROBERT T. GRAY
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The six-year-old sedan hurtled down a rain-swept road in early-morning darkness, swerved suddenly out of control, whipped from one side of the road to another and slammed into a tree.

Six young men lay dead in the wreckage. A seventh died within hours. There were no survivors.

Two of the victims were 18 years old. Three were 19 and two were 20.

The Vermont state police report said: "A strong odor of intoxicants was detected on all but one of the victims. Investigation disclosed these young men had traveled to New York State and were in a hotel and restaurant previous to returning to Vermont."

That accident is one of the more dramatic reasons why New York is being pressed by neighboring states to change its liquor laws which now permit sale of liquor to 18-year-olds. They went New York to raise the minimum to 21.

A legislative committee has been studying the issue and will make recommendations by Dec. 15.

All indications now are that New York State will retain its 18-year minimum.

Those advocating a 21-year-level offer two main arguments.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey appeared at a public hearing in Albany with a statement representative of the views of officials of states bordering on New York.

"For as long as that (18-year) law remains, young people will be lured to this state from other states for the purpose of drinking, legalized drinking, and will later suffer death, needless death," Hughes said.

The Rev. Dan M. Potter, executive director of the Protestant Council of the City of New York, presented a view shared by the state's Protestant organizations, and by such groups as the New York State Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations.

"Because the drinking teen-ager becomes involved in various crimes from joyriding to disturbing the peace, to wanton destruction of property, to experimental sexual behavior, to gang wars and other malicious acts... anyone who really has the interest of our teen-agers at heart and is seriously concerned about the moral and ethical standards of our society is compelled, in our opinion, to favor the 21-year level," Potter said.

While there is extensive support from organizations within New York State for a 21-year level, there is a large body of individual thought that the age at which a youth begins to drink is essentially a home problem, an Associated Press survey showed.

Doris Grumbach, who combines the roles of college professor, author and mother of four daughters, said she considered home training a more important factor than the law in preventing abuse of drinking. Without such training she said, drinking becomes "a trick to play on parents."

The argument turns on the question of whether an 18-year, 21-year or any age minimum specified by law is an actual factor in controlling youthful drinking or whether the abuse of liquor by youths must be prevented on a more personal basis.

Morale Boosters

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—No business office today is complete without its unofficial morale boosters.

Most large firms have a personnel department which officially tries to pep up the group loyalty of employees with such fringe benefits as free turkey raffles, bowling leagues and annual picnics and dances.

The attitude of the average hired hand toward these organized corporate goodwill gestures ranges from one of darkest suspicion to one of steady opportunism.

The philosophy of the opportunist may be expressed thusly: "If the company is giving it away for nothing I'll take it even if it's only a framed photograph of the board chairman. After all, I can throw his picture away, and still keep the frame."

But in addition to its paid cheerleaders, every office also has its quota of self-appointed joy spreaders. They take upon themselves the task of convincing the rest of the herd that life can still be wondrous—even if a fellow does have to work every day for a living.

Perhaps the following characters of this ilk are familiar in your own office:

"Nostalgic Ned"—He tries to make everyone feel grateful by telling how much worse things used to be in the old days.

"Why," he wheezes, "You would not believe it. I can remember when we stood up and saluted when the boss entered, they gave us only a quarter hour for lunch, and they docked part of your pay if you made more than two trips a day to the men's room."

"Flannelmouth Fred"—He spends most of his time going around indiscriminately patting all the other employees on the back and saying, "You're doing a grand job."

Secretly, he hopes this will bring him to the eye of management as a man with executive talent. But the rest of the hired hands are sour on Fred. They know that after they finish doing their work, he'll ask them to help him do his.

"Rainbow-top Rosalee"—The executive secretary, a glamor gal with a middle-aged spread, fondly believes she gives every man in the place a thrill by tinting her hair a different exciting color every month.

She would be distressed to know that half the men merely think she is off her rocker, and the other half think her wig has faded.

"Bankrupt Ben"—This guy is a reverse philanthropist. "Lend me $50," he wheedles. If you do, he feels that he has benefited you by giving you a fresh interest in living and a new hope—the wild hope that somehow, some day, he may pay you back.

"Woeful Wilbert"—"Gee, I wish I was on top of my job the way you are," he sighs enviously to each and all. Wilbert, who was born with 12 thumbs, is always in trouble. But he makes all the other employees—who were born with only 11 thumbs—feel like unrecognized geniuses.

"The Great Himself"—The boss has his own inimitable way of giving everybody a shot in the arm. Along about this time of year he posts a notice on the bulletin board saying:

"If business keeps up like this, we probably won't lay off half the staff at Christmas—we'll lay off two thirds."

What would office life be like without these characters of sweetness and light, who in their various ways do so much to reconcile us to the wear and tear of the long rut and the daily routine?

John F. Kennedy Knows Better

Thanks to a fine education and an unusual breadth of experience while on his way to the White House, John F. Kennedy knows as much about the realities of U. S. politics as any man who has lived in there.

It is against a background of extensive knowledge that he tries to make it appear in his congressional politicking this year that his program is being blocked by Republicans and if no Republicans were elected to the next Congress everything would be politically perfect.

The President knows better. Granted that many things are said while politicking for the benefit of the unthinking and the unknowing, this particular thing is oozing with mischief.

THE REPUBLICAN party is in the minority in Congress.

It does not control the executive department.

Its role in these circumstances is to make the Democratic party prove it can muster enough support to carry out its program. Otherwise, the program cannot be successful.

The Democratic party cannot do this. The failure is within the party. It lies in the schism that opens in party ranks whenever the party's forward-moving leaders lock horns with its backward-looking leaders.

The Roosevelts, Trumans and Kennedys cannot be elected without the electoral votes of Southern states whose congressional leaders never will see eye to eye with them yet cannot split away and hope to survive on their own.

They would find no welcome in the Republican party. They are too weak to dream of starting a third party. They like the patronage and the perquisites that go with being nominally part of the party in power but they have nothing in common with Democratic executive leadership.

IS IT NOT strange that no one of the most ticklish problems executive leadership has faced in modern times no one has heard from Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson?

The Texas genius who held the South in line in 1960 by talking to its politicians like a Southerner still isn't talking like a member of the Kennedy administration two years later.

Don't blame the Republicans, Mr. President. Blame the split in your own party. Convince your own vice president before you blame the Republicans.

Spell It Out Next Time

If the U.S. Supreme Court has as bad luck with its upcoming clarification on official prayers in public schools as it had with the ruling it handed down June 25, its members may feel like turning in their judicial robes.

Their majority opinion in June said religion was too personal, too sacred, too holy, to permit its unhallowed perversion by a vicil magistrate.

The net effect was intended to be the opposite of what it turned out to be. The ruling was pounced on by critics in Congress and the pulpit who said the Supreme Court had "outlawed prayer." Many people believed this.

Implications were read into the ruling that could not be found in the actual words of Justice Hugo L. Black, who wrote the 6-1 opinion, or in any of the supporting opinions. In subsequent discussion, speculation was quoted by offended people as if it were fact. Windy blasts were forthcoming from some of the same senators who more recently have been discovering things in the U.S. Constitu-

Ecumenical Is a Big Word

When Pope John XXIII announced last Christmas morning the first Roman Catholic ecumenical congress in nearly a century, sometime in 1962, hopes of religious unity were aroused.

The meeting at the Vatican this week, however, finds the hopes quieted and back where they were before Pope John made his announcement. No unity is in prospect, other than a possible step toward unity among Catholics. Vatican Council II, its formal title, will be concerned solely with internal affairs of the Roman Catholic Church.

This ecumenical council is in no sense a Roman Catholic counterpart of the ecumenical meetings of Protestant-Orthodox groups. This was the origin of the confusion about its purpose when it was announced last December.

It is a meeting of the Roman Catholic Church in its entirety, a calling in of the hierarchy from all parts of the world on command of the Pope. There have been 20 of these ecumenical councils beginning with the Council of Nicaea in 325. The most recent council was held at the Vatican in 1869-70.

The reason some observers sense that unity among Catholics could be a possible motive for the council is the Pope's expressed wish for ending the 900-year-old schism between Rome and the Eastern Church. At least three times in recent years this wish has been referred to, by Pope John. This indicates it could be one of the things he hopes to accomplish while he is head of the Roman Catholic Church. "Ecumenical" has many shades of meaning. In its application to the council convening next Thursday it means a "council convoked from an entire church." Any unity in its connotation would be Catholic unity. Whatever may happen ultimately with regard to Christian unity is not in the plans of the churchmen who will meet this week in the Vatican.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

What is really meant by the "melancholy days" that come in autumn is clear the first day when rain falls continuously and it seems like a first-rate idea to head for the bed and play dead... te-dum-dah.

The reason there is no rapport between people who talk that way in Mississippi and the rest of us is simple. We're not talking about the same thing. They're talking about their right to disregard the 14th amendment because they never believed in it, and we're talking about conducting this country in accord with this amendment, which we believe in completely.

Politicians are supposed to know their stuff when talking about politics, yet some of the worst guesses I've ever heard were made by politicians who supposedly knew every voters grandfather by his middle name.

Is there anything dearer than a once-popular act in show business that someone tries to warm over years after it has gone off the boards?

Surely I'm not the only one wondering about the consequences if that former army general arrested in the midst of the Mississippi rioting had been put under psychiatric care, instead of just being sent to a place where such care was available. I can think in need of psychiatric care, not including quickly of a dozen people I suspect of being myself.

There are men in my community who spend more time working on nonpaying outside projects than they spend working on their jobs and I wonder how they attained this latitude of action.

I know no more about training a dog than I know about steering a space ship, but with no instruction on my part our newest dog puts the sheep at our place into the barn whenever they get into the yard, which includes the times they are supposed to be there to clean up fallen apples.

I wonder if it will happen in my lifetime that a comonomat will wake up in the morning, stretch and mumble to his waking-up missus, "Gotta get on the hop, kid, I'm scheduled to go around the dad-blasted earth six times today — the same old grind."

I like this comment by the U.S. public roads administrator, Rex M. Whitton. "You hear the objectors, and the organized minorities, and the vocal groups," he explained, rejecting the squawks about the effect of free ways on cities. "You don't hear from the vast majority that really wants this traffic congestion eliminated. And I think the vast majority ought to start doing some talking."

Nothing in the line of householder chores gives me more pleasure than housepainting — for the first 30 minutes. Longer than that, the job becomes a bore. I like the story in Chinese tradition about Wan Hoo who fixed two large kites to a framework, attached 47 gunpowder rockets and placed a saddle in the center. After Wan had settled himself in the saddle, 47 torch bearers lighted the 47 rockets and Wan Hoo never was seen again. That may well have been the beginning (1800 A.D.) of modern rocketry. And alas the explanation for Unidentified Flying Objects.

Administration Bungled the Mississippi U. Case

By DAVID LAWRENCE

A learned judge, who served on the highest court of his state and now is a United States senator, feels that President Kennedy made a mistake in failing to wait till the State of Mississippi had a chance to present its case to the entire Supreme Court of the United States before using troops to enforce a lower court order.

David Lawrence

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-NC, sent to many of his constituents last week a letter which expresses the view that the administration bungled the Mississippi case. This, incidentally, is also the feeling of a large number of other lawyers throughout the country.

It so happens that not until Monday of this week did the Supreme Court finally consider the application of the State of Mississippi and formally deny its request for an appeal. Only this week, therefore, can it really be said that Mississippi had exhausted all legal procedures available in attempting to deny James Meredith admission to the University of Mississippi.

SEN. ERVIN, formerly an associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court, wrote as follows:

"As a consequence of my experience in the administration of justice as a trial lawyer and judge, I am firmly of the opinion that except in the most extraordinary circumstances no judicial decision should ever be carried into execution until the losing party has been afforded the opportunity to utilize all legal procedures available to him to secure a reversal of such decision, and such decision has become final.

"There were no extraordinary circumstances in the Meredith case. If the course set out above had been pursued and the execution of the judgment in that case had been postponed until the Supreme Court had ruled upon the application of Mississippi for a certiorari to review such judgment, it is possible that the tragic events which have transpired in Mississippi within the last few days might well have been avoided.

"Unfortunately, however, some of the judges connected with this case forsook judicial discretion for haste.

"For example, Mr. Justice Black, of the United States Supreme Court, refused to stay the execution of the judgment on the ground that 'there is very little likelihood that this court will grant certiorari to review the judgment of the court of appeals.'"

"In other words, Mr. Justice Black stated, in substance, that he would not stay the judgment in a case which the court had never considered because he thought the court would probably decide the case against the applicant when it heard the case. "With all due deference, Mr. Justice Black's statement might be becoming to a crusader. It certainly does not bfit an occupant of a judicial office. This is true because it cannot be reconciled with due process of law, which Daniel Webster so well declared in the Dartmouth College case is 'a law which hears before it condemns; which proceeds upon inquiry, and renders judgment only after trial.'"

"THE CONSTITUTION would not have been destroyed and the heavens would not have fallen if the efforts to force the entrance of Meredith into the University of Mississippi had been postponed until the Supreme Court had acted upon the application of the State of Mississippi for certiorari to review the judgment in his case....

"Since there were no extraordinary circumstances requiring the immediate acceptance of Meredith by the University of Mississippi, the Department of Justice and the President ought to have taken the position that the physical might of the federal government would not be employed to execute the judgment of the Court of Appeals until the Supreme Court of the United States made such judgment final by denying the application of Mississippi for a writ of certiorari or by deciding the case adversely to Mississippi on its merits. "Unfortunately, the court of appeal, Mr. Justice Black, the Department of Justice, and the President did not pursue these courses of action.

"And, unfortunately, Gov. Barnett resorted to a species of physical force to prevent the execution of the decree in the Meredith case. I think he was mistaken in so doing for at least two reasons.

"As a practical matter, he was unwise in pitting the limited physical force of his state against the military might of the United States.

"IN THE SECOND place, every party to a judicial proceeding ought to obey the decree entered in such proceeding even though he honestly believes such decree to be unwarranted or unconstitutional. In saying this, I do not imply that I approve of the decree of the Court of Appeals in the Meredith case. That decree was based upon the decision made by the Supreme Court of the United States on May 17, 1954, and I think it is well known that I have always maintained that the Supreme Court of the United States transgressed its constitutional authority to interpret the Constitution and underook to amend the Constitution when it handed down that decision.

"Gov. Barnett's foolish action did not justify precipitate counteraction on the part of others. On the contrary, it called for the exercise of the greatest patience on their part. As St. Paul so well stated, 'all things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient.'"

Sen. Ervin also argues that, even after the President "reached the conclusion that his duty required him to use the military might of the nation to enforce the judgment," he should have issued a proclamation advising the people of Mississippi of the facts and setting a specified time for action so as to give Mississippi officials time to comply before troops actually were used to enforce the judgment. Mr. Kennedy, unfortunately issued his proclamation only a few hours before sending in armed marshals, backed up by military units, to enforce the court order.

Red China May Build Own 'Cuba'

By VICTOR RIESEL
BROWNSVILLE, TEX.

With the Soviets neatly entrenched in the Caribbean can the Chinese Communists be far behind? Nope. They want some frontage on the lovely waters which stretch from the top of South America into the lazy blue of the Gulf of Mexico. So the "Chi-coms" are preparing to build a Cuba of their own. They have their eyes on British Guiana. And they were told not too long ago they'd be welcome.

They got this word from an authoritative Guianian. She's the Communist wife of the avowedly Communist prime minister, Cheddi Jagan. The lady was in Peiping just a few weeks back.

After touring the mainland of China as the guest of the state for two weeks, she arrived in its capital to be greeted by a mass rally. There, beneath the red banners, she told of her devotion to Mao Tse-tung, denounced the United States, applauded speakers who shouted against "shameful... American imperialism" and welcomed Chi-com aid in "rebuilding" her country.

There was quite a turnout for her that day, Aug. 30. They were greeting a comrad — for is she not the general secretary of the Castro-style People's Progressive party which governs the internal affair of British Guiana? There were almost as many people at the rally and along the streets, I'm told, as there are in little Guiana itself.

A BEACHHEAD in the Caribbean is quite an important "leap forward" for Mao's state. So word went out that Mrs. Jagan was to be treated royally. She was.

She was officially hailed by six special Chi-com organizations — some of them created especially for the infiltration of the lands which start rolling below the Rio Grande, a few feet from which I have just stood.

Sponsoring the rally of welcome for the politically powerful red lady were the China-Latin American Friendship Association, The People's Institute of Foreign Affairs, the China Peace Committee, the National Women's Federation of China, the All-China Federation of Trade Unions and the All-China Youth Federation.

For two weeks she had been unleashing anti-Western speeches. Now at the rally she really poured it on:

"The ruthlessness, of the colonial powers," said she as she warmed up to her oratorical bludgeoning of the United States and Britain, "the excessive plundering of national resources of colonies and inhuman disregard for the masses, have helped open the eyes of the exploited and strengthened their courage for the struggle."

This — from the wife of the prime minister who went to the White House asking for a loan of $38 million and then complained when he did not get it.

AMONG THOSE cheering her was the Cuban ambassador to Communist China, Oscar Pino-Santos. He cheered most loudly when Mrs. Jagan shouted that the "Cuban people need support in the struggle against recent provocations and to retain their hard won freedom."

And they all cheered when Chu Tu-nan, president of the China-Latin America Freindship Association, pledged the "support of the Chinese people for the British Guiana people in their struggle for national independence.

"U.S. imperialism," said he, "has played a shameful role in obstructing the independence of British Guiana. United States imperialism is very much afraid that the speedy attainment of independence by British Guiana will accelerate the development of the national and democratic movement in other Latin American countries."

After some days of secret conferences with Chi-com leaders, Mrs. Jagan flew to London to join her husband at the British Commonwealth conference. There both of them protested their lack of freedom.

Sputnik Plus Five

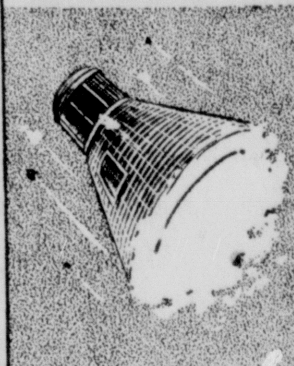

Early morning, Feb. 20, 1962: Astronaut John Glenn squeezes into the tiny Mercury capsule inside a gantry at Cape Canaveral. Ten times before in previous weeks, his launching had been frustrated by weather or technical problems. Today, the weather is still in doubt, but the countdown proceeds.

(10) The John Glenn Story

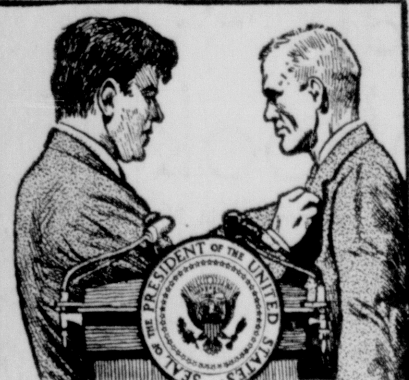

The low-hanging clouds around the Cape break up and all systems are "go." Finally, at 9:47 a.m., the powerful Atlas booster is ignited, its 360,000 pounds of thrust slowly lifting the capsule and its human pilot—then faster, faster, higher, higher.

Three times Glenn circles the earth at 17,500 miles an hour, 100 to 160 miles in space. He is plagued with control problems, and near the end there are fears his heat shield is loose. But all goes well as the capsule plunges back into the atmosphere. "Boy, that was a real fireball!" he radios.

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

At 2:43 p.m., the capsule lands by parachute in the Atlantic and is picked up by the destroyer Noa. America has its first great hero of the space age, and although the feat has been outdone by the Soviet Union, the world lauds the openness of the U.S. space program. Three days after his history-making flight, Glenn returns to Cape Canaveral to be reunited with his family and receive the nation's homage.

Wool Producers' Action
Preliminary results of the recent wool producers' referendum show that producers favor the continuation of deductions from wool payments, L. L. Moff, chairman Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Mahoning County Committee, announced today.

The deductions are to be used in promoting wool and lamb. Producers owning 17,420,935 sheep voted for (91 percent) and producers owning 1,720,104 sheep voted against (9 percent). On the basis of individual producer voting, the preliminary tabulation shows 86,239 producers voted for (87.7 percent) and 12,117 voted against (12.3 percent).

Agreement approval required a favorable vote by producers who own at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs represented by votes in the referendum. However, in determining whether or not the referendum adequately reflects producer approval on a representative basis, consideration is also given to the number of votes cast for and against the agreement by individual producers.

The referendum was held to determine producer approval of a proposed agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council, an organization of sheep producers. The agreement would continue deductions from wool payments made under the national Wool Act of 1954 for the 1962, 1963, 1964, and 1965 marketing years. The deductions would provide funds to finance the Council's advertising, promotional, and related market development activities on lamb and wool.

In Ohio, producers, or 89.7 percent of the total 7,251 producers voting, favored the continuation of deductions from wool payments; producers owning 441,049 sheep (89.4 percent of the sheep and

Rev. Bruce Milligan conducted the double-ring ceremony against a background of vases of large white chrysanthemums, pompons and gladioli. The scene was lighted by twin seven-branch candelabra.

Nuptial music was played by Miss Janet Williams, organist. Mrs. Robert Hammell sang "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted down the aisle, whose family pew ends were marked with bows of white satin, and given in marriage by her father. She wore a full length gown of white bridal satin in classic princess style with a scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves and a miniature pearl tiara with veil of imported French illusion. All were fashioned and made by the bride. She wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Miriam Smith of Salem, maid of honor, wore a gown of emerald peau de soie with fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves and a modified scoop neckline. The skirt was of unpressed pleats with a gathered-back flounce caught at the waistline with two self roses. She wore a headpiece of a matching rose mounted on a circle of green net and carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow pompons.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. Paul Zehentbauer of Dunganon and Miss Sandra Hawkins of Salem, sisters of the bride, and Miss Denise Duke of Salem wore emerald gowns and headpieces fashioned like that of the maid of honor and carried bouquets of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

Linda and Lee Zehentbauer, twin niece and nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer. Wearing a gown of emerald peau de soie with puffed sleeves and full gathered skirt and a white batiste eyelet pinafore with a self rose as her headpiece, Linda carried a miniature bouquet to match those of the other attendants. Lee carried the rings on a heart-shaped, lace-edged white satin cushion.

All the gowns, headpieces and the ring-bearer's coat were fashioned by the bride and her attendants.

Robert Rose of Niles was best man, and Kenneth Pelton, William Fischer and Louis George, all of Niles, were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of tan and gold brocade with brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore brown crepe with brown accessories and a feathered toque of autumn colors. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow rose buds and tangerine carnations.

Increase

creases would help attract more capable people into federal employment and contribute to better productivity.

The legislative package signed into law combines two of Kennedy's major legislative proposals—pay increases and salary reform for 1.6 million federal workers, and new revenue to help run the deficit-ridden postal service.

The pay section of the bill calls for two-step raises averaging 9.6 per cent for 1 million "white collar" workers, and 11.2 per cent for 600,000 postal clerks and letter carriers.

The first step goes into effect next payday, the second step on Jan. 1, 1964. Cost of the increase will be $1.05 billion.

The new postal rates—chiefly a one-cent increase in first-class and airmail stamps, with smaller increases for second and third class users—are intended to bring in $600 million in new revenue after three years.

The new first class and air mail rates begin Jan. 7, 1963, but most of the second and third class increases are spread over three years, starting in January.

Of the $600 million in new revenue, $459 million will come from the added penny on first class and air mail stamps.

Second class users—mostly magazine and newspaper publishers—will have their mailing costs increased by $2.4 million after three years, chiefly through three annual increases of 4 per cent for editorial matter, and the 10 per cent increases for advertising mail.

New third class rates will bring in $93.7 million in new revenue, $39.5 million of it through an increase from 2½ cents per piece of bulk advertising mail to 2½ cents after three years.

The rate for a single piece of third class mail goes up from 3 cents to 4 cents, bringing in an additional $34.5 million. This is the class used by those who send Christmas cards with the envelopes unsealed.

Ike

II—including Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Gen. Jacob L. Devers. And a few places from him sat Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who quit as Army chief of staff in 1959 with a blast at Eisenhower's policies, which Taylor said neglected the Army. Taylor is now chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the nation's top military man.

The thousands of diners leaped to their feet when Eisenhower walked in. They cheered, applauded and whistled when he threw up his arms and grinned in a characteristic gesture of greeting.

Mrs. Eisenhower watched from her table. At her side was Gen. Marshall's widow, who received a standing ovation.

Retired Lt. Gen. Milton G. Baker, president of the association, spoke glowingly of Eisenhower as embodying "peace with strength," and brought the crowd to its feet again by calling the famed president-soldier "Plain Ike."

The tuxedo-clad Eisenhower, in a mellow mood, spoke feelingly of the Army as "selfless, devoted, loyal." And he said Marshall, wartime Army chief and postwar secretary of state and defense, typified all these qualities.

Eisenhower's only reference to his presidency came in his smiling remark that except for eight years "when I took a short tour in politics," he has belonged to the United States Army.

BIKES ON A HIKE

WHAT RIMES with "hike"? "Bike" is the right word, according to two dozen Girl Scouts from Lakewood, O., a Cleveland suburb, after they combined the two during a two-week day camp period. The Girl Scouts, under direction of Mrs. Robert French, were guided by kits prepared by the Mayor's Traffic Safety Education Committee. The youngsters were required to learn to repair their bikes, change tires and patch innertubes. On bike hikes they learned that a shelter can be made with a poncho and bike. On the final day, they participated in a bike rodeo. Most important, they had a chance to earn a badge.

Topics of Interest To Farmers; Notes About Meetings

WOOSTER, Ohio AP — The director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station here says that Ohio agriculture is now at a historical peak in terms of its value to the state economy.

Dr. Roy M. Kottman, dean of the Ohio State University College of Agriculture and Home Economics, and station director, said that rumors of a declining agriculture do not take into account either production or value to the state.

Dr. Kottman said the only agricultural decline today is in the number of farms and farmers. It's true, he added, that Ohio has some 100,000 fewer farmers than were operating 20 years ago. But he said today Ohio farmers are producing 140 million pounds more beef, 750 million more pounds of milk, and more than 100 million more bushels of corn every year than Ohio farmers of the early 1940s.

At the same time, he said, Ohio has a half-million fewer acres in wheat although farmers are producing more than a million more bushels of grain yearly than they did 20 years ago.

Dean Kottman had these other points to make in his agriculture review:

It can be shown that for every four cows producing 10,000 pounds of milk, there will be $3,000 to $5,000 additional business on the main streets of the surrounding towns and cities. The same is true for every 10 brood sows and for every 50 steers that are fed to market weight, for every 21 beef cows producing calves, and for every 600 hens.

In the next 50 years, Ohio will need to produce 2½ times as much per acre as our present big production. This, Dr. Kottman said, means 185 bushels of corn and 77 bushels of wheat per acre.

Fortunately, he concluded, Ohio has ample reason to believe that "we have not yet begun to approach the upper limits of production."

Grazing Restrictions

Beginning Nov. 1, most of the acreage diverted under the 1962 grain and wheat programs will be released from program restrictions on grazing, Clifford F.

Shaw, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announces.

The chairman explained that the grazing restrictions are being relaxed as part of the general effort to keep provisions of farm programs in line with practical farming operations. Many farmers normally salvage dropped corn ears and other crop residue by turning livestock into harvested cropland in the late fall.

Since the diverted acreage on many farms is not fenced separately, the program change will permit these farmers to salvage this feed without being put to unreasonable work and expense for protective fencing, he said.

Barley Price-Support

Requirements under the 1962 price-support operation are being broadened to make barley grading No. 5, including Western barley with a test weight of not less than 36 pounds per bushel, eligible for price-support, according to L. L. Moff, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee in Mahoning County.

Requirements previously had been broadened to make barley grading No. 5 on test weight only eligible for support.

The most recent action is being taken, the Chairman explains, to promote more orderly marketing of this year's crop and to prevent distressed market conditions, particularly for the lower grades of barley.

Barley grading No. 5 will be discounted 15 cents per bushel below the basic county support rate of .98 cents per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better barley, in addition to other applicable discounts, explained T. W. Richards, ASC office manager.

EXCITING! GO '63 CHEVY II

Nova 4-Door Station Wagon

SPUNKY NEW WAGONS THAT LEAD LONGER, HAPPIER LIVES

What a new kick you'll get out of going places in this one! And what a solvent feeling you'll get as the savings on upkeep mount! There's a full line of models to pick from, including three wagons. Sure, we've kept Chevy II's basic simplicity. Kept its liveliness and roominess and easy loading ways. Kept its crisp looks, too (with a bit of freshening here and there). The changes we've made weren't for change's sake, you see—but for yours. Just for a sample: the brakes are self-adjusting. The new Delcotron generator gives you more electrical reserve power and helps your battery reach a vigorous old age. The Body by Fisher beauty lasts longer, too; air pushes rain and wash water down through the rocker panels (where most rust begins!) in a clever new flush-and-dry system. The ride is smoother and quieter because of a large number of small improvements we've made. And things are a lot plusher inside. Now you've read this far, haven't you? Isn't that pretty good evidence that Chevy II is made for you? The clincher will come when you take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. Drop in sometime soon and see if we haven't called the shot.

Black Cats Guard Halloween Cake

Here comes Halloween! Black cats, concocted of morsels of semi-sweet chocolate, are the order of the kitchen on Allhallow's Eve. Although these edible decorations look as professional as can be, they're simple for any mother or big sister to make for a small-fry party.

These chocolate cats are used on a big party cake. Because you'll have to spend a little time making them, we suggest you use a mix for the cake. Check kitchen supplies to make sure you have red and yellow food coloring on hand because these two colors will have to be blended to tint the fluffy white cake frosting a pale orange as our recipe directs.

A note about spreading the melted chocolate before cutting out the cats. If you use aluminum foil, make sure the foil lies absolutely smooth. No wrinkles allowed! If you grease the bottom of a small rimless cookie sheet and put the foil on this greased surface, it won't slip around. If you use a baking pan instead of a cookie sheet, turn over the pan and put the foil on the greased outside bottom surface so you can spread the chocolate with a free hand.

Should your kitchen be on the warm side when you're ready to cut out the cat shapes from the melted spread and chilled chocolate, do this speedily so the chocolate doesn't soften too much. After you have cut out the shapes, refrigerate the chocolate sheet again until quite firm before lifting the shapes out of their places. Leftover chocolate, after making the cat cutouts, will probably be gobbled up. If not, and you have a set of miniature cutters, you can use it to make tiny cutouts as garnishes for frosted cup-cakes or cookies. These miniatures are also delicious used as a garnish on creamy tapioca pudding layered with canned tart cherries or fresh orange segments.

HALLOWEEN CAKE

1 package cake mix, 1 recipe seven-minute frosting, Red and yellow food coloring, 1 package (6 ounces or 1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 2 teaspoons shortening.

Make cake according to package directions for baking in a 9 by 13-inch pan. Make frosting; tint orange with red and yellow food coloring and frost top and sides of cake. Make chocolate cats: melt chocolate with shortening over hot (not boiling) water, stirring often. With the back of a spoon or a small spatula, spread chocolate over waxed paper or foil into a rectangle about 7 by 11 inches. Chill just until firm — usually 15 or 20 minutes. With a 1½-inch cutter, cut out 10 rounds from the chocolate for the bodies; with a 1¼-inch cutter, cut out 10 rounds for the heads. With the 1¼-inch cutter, cut out 10 parts of a circle for tails and 20 pointed pieces for ears. Re-chill, then invert and gently peel off paper or foil; lift out chocolate pieces. Arrange two rows of cats, using chocolate cutouts, over top of cake. Refrigerate until serving time.

Note: If you haven't the specific size of cutters suggested in this recipe, you can improvise with other cutting devices changing the size of the cats if you like.

Cooking Is Fun

MARY'S CHEF'S SALAD

Torn salad greens, Cooked cut green (snap) beans (fresh, frozen or canned), Diced or julienne cooked ham, Diced or julienne cheddar cheese, Olive oil and red wine vinegar, Garlic, salt and pepper, Sliced tomatoes and hard-cooked eggs.

Turn the greens, beans, ham and cheese into a salad bowl; just before serving toss with oil, vinegar, a tiny amount of crushed garlic clove, and salt and pepper to taste. Garnish with tomatoes and eggs.

Note: The salad bowl may be rubbed with a cut clove of garlic, if desired, instead of adding the crushed garlic.

FRUITED RICE PUDDING

1 package (11 ounces) mixed dried fruits, 1 pint boiling water, ½ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-3 cup quick-cooking rice cereal.

Cut fruit into thin strips with a kitchen scissors or a sharp knife; turn into a 1-quart saucepan with the water, sugar and lemon juice. Bring to a boil; simmer 20 minutes or until fruit is tender. Drain liquid from fruit into a measure; add enough water to make 2 cups; pour over the cooked fruit. Sprinkle in the rice cereal; cook over low heat for about 5 minutes. Serve hot or cold with light cream or a custard sauce. Makes 6 servings.

MIMI'S SAUCE

1 bottle (4 ounces or ½ cup)

horseradish, 1-3 cup chili sauce, Lemon juice to taste.

Mix together the horseradish, chili sauce and lemon juice; refrigerate in a covered jar for an hour or overnight to allow flavors to blend. Serve with cooked cleaned shrimp and salad greens plus a few or more of the following: tomatoes, cucumber, radishes, celery, green pepper, canned pimiento, green or ripe olives. The horseradish sauce accompanies the shrimp; pass French dressing or mayonnaise for the vegetables.

VEAL MARSAALA

1 pound boneless tender veal (for scallopine), 2 tablespoons flour, ½ to ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons (about) butter, 1-3 cup Marsala. Veal should be sliced thin and pounded so it is between ¼ and ½ inch thick; pieces should be at least 4 inches long and several inches wide.

Mix flour, salt and pepper; dip both sides of veal in mixture. Have half the butter very hot in a large skillet; lightly brown veal slices in one layer and continue cooking until no pink shows, making small cuts to test.

Heat can be fairly high but not so high as to scorch butter. Add remaining butter as rest of veal is added to skillet.

Remove veal to hot serving plate and keep warm.

Pour Marsala into skillet; stir with wooden spoon over low heat to get up drippings; pour the small amount of very hot sauce over veal. Makes 4 small servings—usually 2 slices per portion.

CORNMEAL LEMON COOKIES

1¼ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup enriched white cornmeal, ¾ cup sugar, ½ cup soft shortening, 1 egg, Grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon milk, ¼ cup finely chopped walnuts.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, cornmeal and sugar into a mixing bowl. Add shortening, egg, lemon rind, vanilla and milk. Beat until smooth—2 minutes or longer. Shape dough into small balls; dip tops in walnuts.

Place, about 2 inches apart, on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 15 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool. Makes about 3½ dozen.

MINUTE CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1 package (6 ounces or 1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, ¾ cup dark corn syrup, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

In a heavy saucepan heat the chocolate, ½ cup of the corn syrup, the butter and water over low heat until mixture is completely melted and mixture is blended. Remove from heat; stir in the remaining ¼ cup corn syrup and the vanilla.

Serve hot, warm or cold, depending on the texture you like—sauce is "stickiest" when cold.

Makes about 1½ cups. Store any leftover sauce in covered jar in refrigerator and reheat over hot water.

Apple Fritters Go Way Back

Americans adore apple fritters, and this love affair has been going on for a long time. Way back in the 1820's, Mrs. Mary Randolph—famed author of "The Virginia Housewife"—commended the fritters to her readers. They're as delightful today as they were more than a century ago.

Apple fritters have always been made essentially the same way. But early cooks such as Mrs. Randolph were sometimes influenced by French cuisine: they marinated the apple slices in brandy and white wine before dipping them into batter and frying. The following recipe, designed for whole-family use, does not call for such annotation.

We suggest serving these apple fritters with confectioners sugar because that's the combination that was a "must" in our childhood. But your culinary nostalgia may lead you to serving them with maple syrup. French chefs often offer their apple fritters, which they call Beignets de Pommes, with custard sauce. Both American and French cooks stress that the fritters must always be served piping hot.

APPLE RING FRITTERS

1 cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup milk, 2 eggs (separated) 1 teaspoon salad oil, 6 apples.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Beat egg yolks slightly; beat in milk; add sifted dry ingredients and oil; beat until blended. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into flour mixture. Core and pare apples; cut into crosswise slices ¼ inch thick. Dip apple rings in batter. Fry a few at a time in hot (375 degrees) shallow fat until brown, turning once. Drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Serve at once. Makes about 24 fritters.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Why Some Doctors Disagree

Ever since the world began, people have disagreed about the causes of natural events.

Even though we recognize this fact, it has always puzzled the lay person why doctors should disagree on so fundamental a matter as the preservation of health. I will try to explain why this is so, and why even on television commercials you will hear such expressions as "nine out of 10 doctors agree" or "four out of five physicians recommend."

All scientific medical opinion is based on the observation and interpretation of findings. Old wives tales are also based on observation and interpretation, but there is an important difference. When one day a person ate pickles and drank milk in the same meal and within a few minutes, a few hours or a few days had a violent digestive upset with vomiting or diarrhea or both, a superstition was born. The old wives shook their heads and said never eat pickles and drink milk in the same meal.

A FEW OBSERVATIONS of supposed cause and effect accidentally hit upon in this manner have turned out to have some merit, but most of them — like the one cited — were in error.

This is because they were based on too small a number of observations and because no controls were observed. By this I mean that in the case above, no account was taken of the persons who washed down their pickles regularly with milk and who did not get sick or of those who ate either pickles or milk — but not both — and who developed an upset stomach.

The scientist must make accurate observations on a reasonably large number of persons about half of whom fulfill one set of conditions and the rest of whom vary in respect of one detail.

Even when experiments are set up in this way, it will be found that nothing is 100 per cent unvariable. Just as people vary in general appearance, so also do they vary in the way they react to such environmental influences as contact with a given disease germ.

LET US SAY that a group of persons all seem to have the same disease, although they are not reacting to it the same way.

Prices On Pork Due For Drop

Wholesale prices on meats, especially pork, eased during the past week with the result that retail prices will follow suit this week. This decrease will effect primarily the more choice cuts, such as pork chops and loin roasts.

Beef prices are steady with little change indicated this week. Features include chuck roasts and ground beef. Most beef coming to market at this time is US Choice. Beef grades are determined by examination of the side of beef for color of meat (cherry red is preferable), marbling of fat within the lean meat, conformation (shape) of the animal, and the amount of fat covering on the animal. Actually most people seem to prefer this US Choice grade in preference to the more fat US Choice or less fat US Good. These are the three grades normally found in retail stores.

Market forecasts indicate coming weeks will experience a very slowly declining beef price until early winter, with prices remaining above last year's level. The supply of beef is very close to last year's level, with indications that people are again eating more beef in 1962. This continues a trend that has been in progress since World War II. Beef replaced pork as the nation's favorite in the early 1950's.

Economically priced meats this week are cured pork cuts, poultry and fish. Ham, picnic and bacon prices did not rise as sharply last month as did fresh pork, so less change downward will be true this week and next in retail markets. Poultry fryers and Beltsville turkeys are in good supply and are again used as market features. Many varieties of seafood are priced with the more economical meats as well as the fresh lake fish, such as perch.

FRESH FRUITS featured this week are apples, grapes, pears and bananas. Popular apple varieties are McIntosh (all purpose), Jonathan (fresh and pies) and Red Delicious (fresh). A few Concord grapes are still on the market, but these are being rapidly replaced by Western Tokays, Ribiers, and Thompson Seedless. The Red Flame Tokays are generally the one in season and most economic in price.

Bartlett pear is the variety most widely available. This fruit ripens rapidly at room temperature if a little green when purchased.

Apple cider is a fruit product very much in season. Most cider is a blend of several varieties of apples to get the desired sweetness and taste. Local growers report that the best quality cider of the season so far is now available.

ECONOMICAL CHOICES FOR fresh fruit are Eastern potatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, celery and eggplant. Sweet potato season is just getting underway with an extra ordinarily good quality crop available. Prices are in the seven to ten cent per pound range. This price will work downward until Thanksgiving time. Tomatoes and peppers are also priced quite reasonable for this time of year. Sweet corn supplies are light and prices higher.

Canned peaches, cherries, and pears are in excellent supply and are used as specials during this period. There is also a better than average supply of tomato products.

Milk supplies are steady and this is also true of prices. Dairy products featured are cheddar and cottage cheese. Milk is used as a popular refresher by teenagers which may also be a good tip for teenagers of a bygone era.

Orphans were preferred, according to the first help-wanted ads for Pony Express ride a century ago.

Unpredictable Hoban Invades Salem Friday Night

Evans Dislocates Shoulder In Drill

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

Salem's football team was handed a severe jolt during yesterday's workout when veteran guard Ron Evans dislocated his shoulder.

Evans, a 165-pound senior, started every game for the Quakers this season. He probably will be sidelined for three weeks.

The Quakers will try to seek some of the prestige they lost last week, when they play host to an erratic Akron Hoban team at Reilly Stadium Friday night.

"They (Hoban) have good size and speed, and are potentially as good or maybe even better than Farrell or Marietta," Salem head football coach Blaine Morton said prior to his team's drill Wednesday.

THE HOBAN COACHING staff, even before the season got underway, felt that this year's football team would be the greatest in the history of the school, he said.

The unpredictable Knights have won two, lost two and scrapped to gain a tie in another contest this year.

Morton thinks Hoban will come here fired up Friday. He feels his team will have to be at their best to beat the Knights.

Veteran Gerald Jonke, a 230-pound tackle, and Joseph Kerr, 218-pound center, bolster a line that averages 190.

SALEM HAS SHOWN that it can handle a big line, however. The Quakers trimmed Farrell 18-13 two weeks ago. The Night Riders had a pair of tackles that weighed 265 and 250 pounds respectively, and a center that tipped the scales at 215.

Hoban coach Bob Zupke, in his eighth year as the Knights' head mentor, guided the Catholic school to a 28-8 victory over the Quakers last year.

Playing halfback for Hoban is Peter Baldacci, whose brothers played varsity football at Ohio State and Michigan in the past several years.

THE QUAKERS HAVE stressed defense in their workouts during the week. Coach Morton seems somewhat concerned with the odd formations that Hoban will employ against Salem.

Last year off the split T formation, Hoban used a double flanker series with great success in the Quaker game. This year the Knights defeated Barberton 20-8 with the same maneuvers.

Morton said "I expect them to throw a lot of junk at us. They will use a quick pitch to roll outside, and we should see a lot of passing."

"Defensively they will do a lot of wheeling and dealing up front to try and confuse our squad's blocking assignments," Morton declared.

MORTON PLANS TO use veteran Bill Beery at halfback considerably more Friday than in the past.

Perhaps the most stunning defeat suffered by the Knights this season was last week when Hoban dropped a 20-6 decision to Canton Lincoln.

Akron Hoban opened the campaign by whipping Stowe 42-12 then lost to Cleveland St. Edwards 14-6. The Knights' record also includes a 14-14 tie with Canton Timken.

There are 1,125 students in the upper three grades at Hoban, which is an all-boy school.

The Salem scouting report pointed out that Hoban throws between 14 to 18 passes a game and that the Knights threw 14 aerials in the rain against Canton Timken.

SENIOR QUARTERBACK Edward Liberth, a 6-1, 180-pound athlete, is a fine passer, and his favorite target is left end Steve Engelhart, a 6-1, 185-pound senior.

Right halfback Tom Moore is the Knights' leading scorer. He had chalked up four touchdowns in Hoban's last three contests.

Last year Hoban suffered its first losing season since the school started playing football in 1931. The Knights finished with a 2-7 mark.

Morton plans to replace Evans with Dick Stark, a 143-pound senior. Dick Keeler, a 149-pound senior, will probably alternate at the left guard post.

Fortie Leads Nation In Total Offense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A trio of mighty mites—none over 170 pounds—lead the three major individual offense departments in college football today, according to figures released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Edlon Fortie, a 167-pound senior tailback who is the sparkplug of Brigham Young University's attack, leads in total offense with 886 yards in four games. He is 232 yards ahead of Jerry Gross, Detroit's 168-pound quarterback, who tops the passers.

Pistol Pete Pedro, the 5-foot-7, 160-pounder from West Texas State, is the rushing leader with 621 yards, 94 more than Fortie.

Terry Baker, Oregon State's all-around quarterback, is third in total offense with 643 yards in three games. He is also the third-ranked passer, having picked up 560 yards through the air.

Jim Pilot of New Mexico State is the No. 3 rusher with 373 yards in four games, while Maryland's Dick Shiner is rated behind Gross in the passing department.

Shave Wins Ohio Open Golf Event

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Young Bob Shave of Willoughby, taking time off from the professional golf tour to tangle with the Buckeye boys, holds Ohio's Open Golf Championship for the second time.

The 26-year-old shotmaker toured Firestone Country Club's 7,165 yards of exacting terrain in 284 strokes, four over par for the three-day 72-hole medal play test completed Wednesday, to edge 35-year-old Leo Biagetti of Ashland by four strokes.

Shave, who received a set of irons in 1958 when he won as an amateur, did a little better this time. He picked up the $500 top prize, adding it to his $7,000 tour winnings, and gets custody for a year of the Commodore Perry championship trophy.

Bob was never far away in the chase for the title. He was tied with Don Shock of Columbus and Jim Lucius of Troy at 71 in the first round, was a stroke behind 1953 and 1954 champion Dick Shoemaker of Cleveland at the halfway mark, caught him at 216 for 54 holes and then won going away with a closing 68.

That 68 was one of only two sub-par rounds registered by the 138 entrants. Ed Griffiths of Youngstown, the 1957 champion, carded five birdies in the finale for a 66 and a 293 total, good for fourth place and $250.

Shoemaker couldn't stick to the last after the 54-hole deadlock and wound up with a 75, which skidded him to third with 291 for a $300 payoff.

Biagetti matched par on the closing jaunt to finish second with 288 for a $400 check.

Twenty professionals hacked up the $2,450 prize fund, and 11 amateurs got $610 in merchandise. Not one of the play-for-long group could crack 300 for the long route. Elyria publisher Art Hudnutt of Elyria led the amateurs with 302. He received golf goods worth $150—but his score would have been worth only $55 in the professional list.

Final scores included:
Bob Shave Jr., Willoughby 71-74-71-68—284 $500
Leo Biagetti, Ashland 73-72-73-70—288 $400
Frank Beley, Canton 75-75-73-75—298 $175
Frank Kotlarczyk, Fremont 75-77-73-75—300 $95

Amateurs
Bob Brown, Alliance 79-75-79-82—315 $65
Art Hudnutt, Elyria 76-73-75-78—302 $150

WILD PITCH — Tom Tresh of the Yankees scores on wild pitch as Giants' pitcher Jack Sanford takes late throw from catcher Tom Haller during fifth World Series game in Yankee Stadium. Willie McCovey of Giants backs up play. Tresh's three-run homer in eighth inning gave Yanks a 5-3 victory.

Browns Will Face All-time Ground Gainer Perry Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Baltimore Colts - Cleveland Browns game here Sunday will offer some interesting sidelights.

The Colts have the all-time leading ground gainer in the National Football League — Joe Perry. In 12 seasons through 1961, Perry carried the ball 1,619 times for a total of 7,921 yards, an average of 4.9 yards per attempt.

Jim Brown of the Browns is runnerup in this department, having rolled up 6,463 yards—a 5.1-yard average per carry—in his first five seasons in the NFL.

The clash likely to produce the most fireworks Sunday will be that between Bill Glass, Cleveland defensive end, and Jim Parker, the former star lineman at Ohio State.

The 6-foot-3, 278-pound Parker has been an all-pro selection four straight seasons. Glass stands 6-foot-5 and weighs 257.

Parker's specialty is protecting the passer, and Glass' job is getting to the passer, something he has been highly successful in doing so far.

How well Glass can cope with Parkkee may have considerable bearing on the outcome of the game.

Assistant coach Stan Weller, 36, of Lima was driving the 44-member Shawnee Junior High football squad, four girl cheerleaders and a fellow coach to the game—which was postponed.

Weller told sheriff's deputies he did not apply the brakes for fear of overturning the bus. It went to the left side of the highway, nosed into the ditch and fell on its side.

Sam Donnelly and Louie Eckhardt, regulars on Michigan State soccer team, are products of Port Chester, N.Y., High School.

Salem Boosters Club Meets Tonight At 7:30

The Salem Boosters Club will hold a meeting at the Memorial Building tonight at 7:30. Coach Blaine Morton will discuss the Akron Hoban game Friday night. Boosters Club directors and officers are urged to attend.

Yanks Lead 3-2, Whip Giants 5-3

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) —It just had to happen. And now the Giants can try to bounce back once more.

San Francisco's own were one game from disaster today following Wednesday's 5-3 New York Yankee victory in New York that gave the American League champions a three-to-two edge in the World Series.

As the rivals prepare for the sixth game here Friday, the Yankees need only one more victory to record their 20th world championship in the last 40 years.

The Giants, of course, must win Friday's as well as the seventh game on Saturday to reign as champions. Since they were forced to come from behind all through the regular season, why should the script be scrapped in the World Series?

They didn't catch the Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League race until the final day of the season after trailing since July 9. Then they had to overcome a 4-2 deficit with four runs in the ninth inning to win the final playoff game for the pennant.

The Giants' task is much more difficult now despite the fact the balance of the series will be played in their home park. They must beat southpaw Whitey Ford and right-hander Bill Stafford, although not necessarily in that order. Each owns a victory without having tasted defeat in the series.

Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants named lefty Billy Pierce, his sixth game pitcher, immediately after Wednesday's Yankee victory, which was triggered by Tom Tresh's three-run homer in the eighth inning. The blow by the rookie outfielder, off right-hander Jack Sanford, snapped a 2-2 tie and gave Ralph Terry his first World Series triumph after four defeats, one in the current series.

Dark, however, delayed naming the rest of the lineup until he learned the identity of the Yankee starting pitcher. New York manager Ralph Houk said his pitcher would be either Ford or Stafford, but declined to name him until after the workout this afternoon.

"I still think we'll win it," said Dark, despite odds making the Yanks 3½-1 favorites. "I've said all along the series will go seven games and we'll win it. I feel we can beat them two straight."

Houk did no gloating. He is fully aware that this has been a terrific struggle so far, with very little to choose between the two teams. Going into the seventh inning, neither team has had more than a one-run lead in any of the five games.

The Yanks have collected 38 hits to 37 for the Giants. Tresh's homer Wednesday was only the second for the Yankees. The Giants have hit five off Yankee pitching. Only in the first game has either team hit in double figures.

Two of the Yankees' hits Wednesday were "bleeders." One was a Texas League double by Tresh that shortstop Jose Pagan dropped after a long run. The other was a topped single by Richardson half way to the mound. The first two Yankee runs crossed the plate on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Pagan scored the first two Giant runs. He singled and scored on Chuck Hiller's double in the third and homered in the fifth.

Canada Leads U.S. Team By 3 Strokes In Amateur Tourney

By ALAN CLINE
KAWANA, Japan (AP)—Canada shot into the lead in the third World Amateur Golf Team Championship today, overtaking a faltering United States squad with consistent near-par play on the dimly cold and wet Fuji course.

Florida A&M Leads Small College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Florida A&M's speedy Rattlers took over the top spot among the nation's small colleges today in the second weekly Associated Press poll of sportscasters and broadcasters.

The Rattlers skipped from third place in last week's poll after their 52-6 victory Saturday night over Lincoln University, their second in as many starts.

Southern Mississippi, fourth a week ago, went to the No. 2 spot after rolling over Chattanooga 31-13. Third this week is Pittsburg, Kan., No. 2 a week ago, but a 24-12 loser Saturday to Kirksville.

Fresno State, last week's leader, dropped to sixth after losing to Abilene Christian, 26-14.

The rest of the Top Ten in (fourth) Slippery Rock (fifth), Lamar Tech (seventh), Hillsdale (eighth), Texas Southern and Linfield (tied for ninth).
